THE TOC H LEAGUE OF WOMEN HELPERS

WHEN all preconceived ideas of Toc H connected with "ex-Service men" and "social service" have been put outside the mind and its real meaning has been grasped it will be found to be a great company of people who are pledged to an outlook and a way of life that makes certain demands upon them.

The Toc H League of Women Helpers is the women's part of this company. Their aim is to build up amongst women a tradition of thoughtful, unselfish relationship, and they have found in the origin and method of Toc H an inspiration towards this. "The redemptive influence of the common loss" was the beginning, the equally redemptive influence of the common task is the present means. One of the commonest catch phrases in Toc H "to conquer hate" has been elaborated in this passage: "To conquer hate would be to end the strife of all the ages, but for men to know one another is not difficult and it is half the battle." Its application for women should be ". . . for women to work together is not difficult and it is half the battle."

FOUNDATION: Amongst the Foundation membership of Toc H—those whose names were signed on the Communicants roll of the chapel of Talbot House, Poperinghe, during the war years, are several women. When post-war Talbot House was planned at the first rally in November, 1919, some of these were present, and as the Toc H movement gradually took shape its struggles for space, means and a fair hearing were assisted by ever increasing numbers of women.

AIM: Their keen interest in the constructive work of Toc H grew steadily; its great ideals and the hope for the future that is implicit in these appealed to them more and more. In 1922, though membership of Toc H was not thrown open to women, those who desired to help forward its work were enrolled in the Toc H League of Women Helpers.

In the first days their joint work was almost entirely that of helping to build up spiritually and materially the resources of Toc H and it was not until later that those who were engaged in this work began to see the far-reaching possibilities of the Toc H scheme, and to realise how much was needed in educating and unifying power amongst women.

They wanted to see all kinds of women of different birth, education and circumstance so captured by the idea of bringing a new spirit into ordinary life, and working together to improve its conditions, that their own incompatibilities ceased to matter. An aim of this kind is not accomplished quickly, it takes generations of consistent effort and suffers many reversals. A small beginning has, however, been made, and in the units throughout this country and overseas, each working in touch with a Toc H unit, the spirit is being learnt.

PLAN: The same plan of the tentative group growing up into a Branch which can be entrusted with the symbolic Lamp is followed, but as it was never the intention to build a separate women's movement a group is not started except where a Toc H unit already exists.

Each Branch of L.W.H. should be a Fellowship of all sorts and conditions of women trying to reach by study and thought together a standard of Fairmindedness. The natural outcome of this is all kinds of Service to the community in which they live and which they represent and is designed to bring it a small degree nearer the realisation of the Kingdom of God. (The four words stressed in this paragraph sum up the four points of the Toc H Compass).

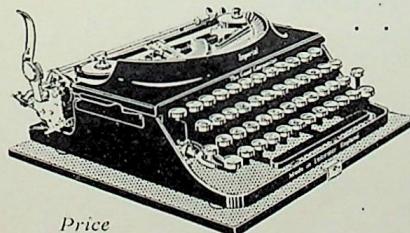

It is to the Groups that have made an attempt to reach this standard, and achieved a measure of success, that the Lamps, symbolic of their aim, are granted. The Group is then reckoned a Branch—a fully developed unit—and receives its Lamp at a Festival Gathering of the Family, where the Patroness lights it for the first time. There are at the present time one hundred and forty-three such Branches of the L.W.H., including the twenty-four which are receiving Lamps to-night.

WORK : The women's work is both parallel with and complementary to that of Toc H and is often done in co-operation with them. Where Toc H tackles work for boys the L.W.H. does equivalent work for girls and children, and sometimes joint clubs are run by both together. L.W.H. members give individual help to sick, blind and invalid women, women in distress through unemployment or loneliness and back up the work of many existing institutions. They join with Toc H in the organisation of such things as Hospital Libraries, Occupation Centres, Children's camps and expeditions, and help financially in many of their enterprises.

MEMBERSHIP : Women may join the L.W.H. from the age of 18 upwards, but must serve a probation of not less than one year during which time they prove to themselves and the members of the unit they join that they are in sympathy with the traditions and wish to further the aims of the Toc H movement.

ASSOCIATES : Friends of the movement who are unable to bear the full responsibility of membership are invited to become Associates contributing towards the increasing financial needs and thus giving very real help. The Annual Subscription for Associates is 5/- and upwards.

INFORMATION : The Log (6d.), issued quarterly from L.W.H. Headquarters gives news of the women's side. All these and various shorter pamphlets may be ordered from L.W.H. Headquarters, 28, Great Tower Street, London, E.C.3. The Secretary will be glad to give any further information.

FRIDAY, JUNE 26th

PROGRAMME

¶ When H.R.H. The Patroness arrives on the Platform the first verse of the National Anthem will be sung.

8.00 p.m. PROCESSION OF THE OLD LAMPS, STANDARDS AND RUSHLIGHTS during which will be sung: "The Carol for the Lamps of the Magnificat." (Page 6).

8.20 p.m. THE PATRONESS, H.R.H. THE DUCHESS OF YORK, will be welcomed by the FOUNDER PADRE and will speak.

8.30 p.m. PROCESSION OF THE NEW LAMPS AND STANDARDS, headed by "The Gen." (ARTHUR PETTIFER, M.M.) carrying The Patron's Lamp, during which will be sung: "Mine eyes have seen the glory." (Page 7).

The audience is requested to sit during the Lamplighting.

8.35 p.m. THE PATRONESS WILL LIGHT THE LAMPS of the following new Branches:

BARKING	GLoucester	TAUNTON
BEARWOOD	HALLAM	THORNTON HEATH
BOSTON	KENDAL	WALLASEY
BRISTOL	KENTISH TOWN	WALSALL
BUCKHURST HILL	NEATH	WESTMINSTER
BURWASH	NORMANTON	WORTHING
CARLISLE	NOTTING HILL	ADELAIDE, S.A.
COLWYN BAY	PADDOCK	PAYNEHAM, S.A.
EDINBURGH	QUEENSTOWN, S.A.	UNLEY, S.A.

(Full Roll of Lamps on pages 9-17).

8.45 p.m. These two verses of "The Hymn of Light" will then be sung:

Hail, joyful Light! O worship and praise
Father and Son and Spirit Divine:
First and the Last, the Ancient of Days,
Pow'r and dominion ever be Thine.

Light of all Light, Thou measureless Love,
Guide Thou our feet and lighten our way;
Now by Thy rising lead us above:
Thine is salvation, Thou art the day.

The Ceremony of Light

(This simple ritual is observed at all meetings of L.W.H. in every part of the world. All members of the audience are requested to remain standing and to join in the responses.)

THE ACT OF REMEMBRANCE.

THE PATRONESS: With proud thanksgiving let us remember our Elder Brethren.

They shall grow not old as we that are left grow old
Age shall not weary them nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning,
We will remember them.

ALL: We will remember them.

ONE MINUTE'S SILENCE.

THE ACT OF SELF-DEDICATION.

THE PATRONESS: Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works.

ALL: And glorify our Father which is in Heaven.

Then will be sung this verse of "The Hymn of Light":—

High over all, Love sceptred and crowned,
King everlasting, splendour of Light,
When we behold Thee, let us be found,
Worthy to shine as stars in Thy sight.

All are asked to stand while H.R.H. The Patroness leaves the hall, followed by the procession of lights and standards.

8.50 p.m. INTERVAL OF TEN MINUTES.

9.00 p.m. THE HON. ADMINISTRATOR OF TOC H, MR. H. A. SECRETAN, will speak.

9.20 p.m. THE COMING-OF-AGE MASQUE, 'MASTER VALIANT.' Words by Barclay Baron, music by Martin Shaw (pages 18-26).

10.20 p.m. FAMILY PRAYERS, led by the Rev. P. B. CLAYTON, C.H., M.C., Founder Padre.

For Processional Singing

THE CAROL FOR THE LAMPS OF THE MAGNIFICAT.

To be sung during the entry of the Old Lamps (see page 4).

Now, at the evening hymn,
Let doubt, not faith, be dim.
Give courage, little Lamps, and constancy;
While on a grey hill-side
The flocks which wander'd wide,
Now come and cluster round their shepherd's knee.

The bleating grows more rare
Beneath his trusted care.
The watchers nod, forgetful of the dawn.
In palace and in keep
Princes and warders sleep,
A star steals down to earth; a Child is born.

Ah! little pools of light
Shine sweetly on this sight,
Circling the true Lamp, set within your ken.
Be still, each low night-sound,
A whisper is a wound,
For God hath come, hath come in sleep, to men.

Lift Lamps as hearts aflame,
Ponder the precious Name
Of Him who sleeps against laborious day.
What dreams of sacrifice
Couch in those sealed eyes!
Within those rose-lips waits th' Eternal Yea.

These are no Kings that now
In such stain'd raiment bow,
Wooing the white dawn which shall ope Thine eyes.
No royal recompense
Of myrrh and frankincense
Down in the straw before Thy cradle lies.

Nought have we in our hands,
Save our rude shepherd-wands,
Nor in our hearts enow of thankful praise.
Yet joy and fealty
Are fragrant unto Thee,
For all our rough unwarrantable ways.

In the white mist we hear
Voices of dead most dear,
And 'mid the legions mark the forms we know.
More straight, more strong than then,
They stand and cry "Amen!"
Sacred in silence when our lit Lamps glow.

Stand back, thou morn. This night
Is full of purer light
Than suns which climb for this or that brief hour.
Prophets and Kings give place,
Beneath us lies the Face
Which, lifted up, shall pardon and empow'r.

Child Christ, we dedicate
Humble and high estate,
Knit by the magic of Thy manger-throne.
Guide us and make us wise
Sisters in enterprise,
No more dishearten'd, and no more alone.

MINE EYES HAVE SEEN THE GLORY.

To be sung at the entry of the New Lamps (see page 4).

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fatal lightning of His terrible swift sword;
His truth is marching on.

I have seen Him in the watch-fires of a hundred circling camps;
They have builded Him an altar in the evening dews and damps;
I have read His righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps;
His day is marching on.

He hath sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment seat;
O, be swift, my soul, to answer Him; be jubilant, my feet!
Our God is marching on.

In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born, across the sea,
With a glory in His bosom that transfigures you and me;
As He died to make men holy, let us live to make men free,
While God is marching on.

"MASTER VALIANT"

THIS is a story of a young man growing up to the responsibilities of manhood. It shows, in allegory, the progress of Toc H until the moment of its twenty-first Birthday. Is there need to interpret so simple a parable? The tale opens in the days before the War which seem gay and prosperous (the dancing of woodland Spirits and Morris men, the love-song of Squire and Lady). But even then injustice and hatred (the Outlaw) cross the scene, foreshadowing tragedy. War strikes suddenly at the youth and hope of the world (the Outlaw falling upon the unarmed Squire, Valiant); those who spring to its defence have to sacrifice their lives (the Knight stabbed by the Outlaw), and in dying hand on their tradition of service to the younger generation (the Knight giving his sword to Valiant). Youth accepts the trust, determined to be worthy of it (Valiant's vow, in the words of the Toc H Prayer). There are many claims at once on unselfish service (Valiant's efforts to help the unfortunate—even the leper), and unexpected emergencies which demand much courage and skill (Valiant's fight with the Huntsmen to protect the girl). Youth, having thus proved itself, goes 'into training' for man's work (Valiant's vigil) and 'comes of age' (the knighting of Valiant). Thus commissioned, a grown man "goes forth with God" to greater tasks of service, in the fellowship of a great company of all kinds and degrees (Valiant's exit in procession).

It would, of course, have been possible to tell this simple story in modern dress, e.g., the bowler-hatted Knight is run down by a car driven by the drunken Outlaw and hands over his Scout Troop to Valiant, a passing bank-clerk, to the accompaniment of taxi-horns, and so on. But this treatment does not seem to lend itself to the difficult circumstances of the Crystal Palace, which call for colour and music and the movement of pageantry. So the setting is the "Age of Chivalry"—a proud title of which we should all like to make our own age worthy. The players wear the beautiful dress of our forbears in about the year 1400. Call it all a 'fairy-tale,' if you will, but find in it a 'moral' for real life.

The Words and Synopsis of the Action

The Masque falls into three 'acts,' but will here be played without intervals.

I. THE SACRIFICE.

SCENE: A wood. TIME: Early morning.

A troop of Woodland Spirits enters, from various points, dancing. Their revel is disturbed by the appearance of an OUTLAW, a desperate man, who crosses the scene furtively, seeking for a victim to rob. The dancers shrink from him, but recover their gaiety as he disappears.

The sound of country music is heard, and a company of VILLAGERS dance up the hall to the processional tune of 'Tideswell'; on reaching the stage they fall into a Country dance.

The 'gentry' now come on the scene—an elderly KNIGHT with his Squire VALIANT, and LADIES. VALIANT begins to play on his lute and he and a LADY sing a song together:—

LADY: Sorrow, begone!
And banish Care;
Fear shall be done
And shall not dare
To enter where
Sorrow is fled,
Care banished.

VALIANT: O come Delight,
On dancing feet
And crown the height
Where lovers meet
To taste the sweet
These two shall prove—
Delight and Love.

BOTH: Poor men may grieve
And make a moan.
But let us leave
Dull grief alone.
Sorrow be gone
And banish'd quite:
Come, dear Delight—
Sweet Love and dear Delight!

The song is suddenly broken off by the OUTLAW, who has crept back and now springs on the unarmed VALIANT in an attempt to rob him. The KNIGHT, drawing his sword, goes to the rescue, but is stabbed by the OUTLAW, who makes off before anyone can hold him.

The KNIGHT lies mortally wounded, supported by VALIANT, to whom he gives his sword before he dies. The CHOIR meanwhile sings these words of parting:—

Tarry no longer; toward thine heritage
Haste on thy way, and be of right good cheer.
Go each day onward on thy pilgrimage;
Think how short time thou shalt abyden here.
Thy place is built above the starrès clear,
None earthly palace wrought in stately wise.
Come on, my friend, my brother most entere!
For thee I offer my blood in sacrifice.*

(* Words by John Lydgate (1370—1447?), a monk of Bury St. Edmunds. He was Chaucer's immediate successor and the most remarkable English poet of the 15th century.)

The KNIGHT dies, and the MORRIS MEN bear his body away, the WOODLAND SPIRITS accompanying them with sad steps.

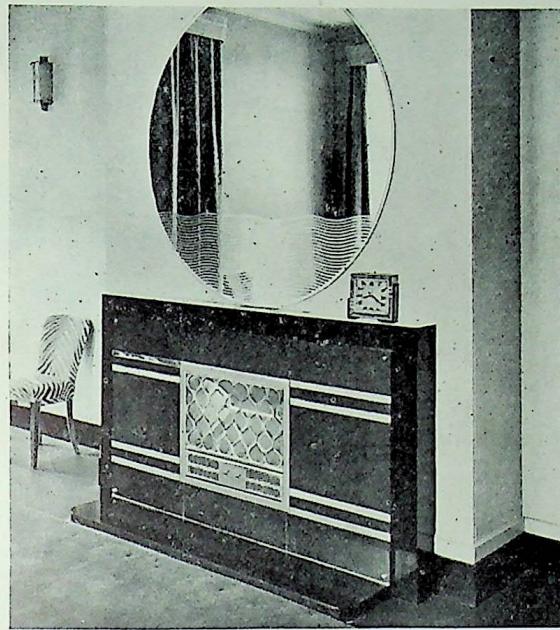

VALIANT, left alone, girds on the KNIGHT's sword belt, and makes this vow:—

Now, by this death I vow—
This blood of my dear friend
So gladly shed for me—
To live with Everyman
In Love and Joy and Peace;
To check all Bitterness;
Disown Discouragement;
To practise Thanksgiving;
Leaping with joy to serve
All men in their most need.
This, in the sight of God,
I vow.

II. THE PROOF.

SCENE: The same. TIME: High noon.

The stage begins to fill with a VILLAGE CROWD. A group of miserable people—old, sick, beggars, last of all a leper—approach VALIANT: as the leper comes forward the CROWD shrinks back in fear and loathing. VALIANT receives them all and does what he can to help them by simple acts of mercy. During this action the CHOIR sings:—

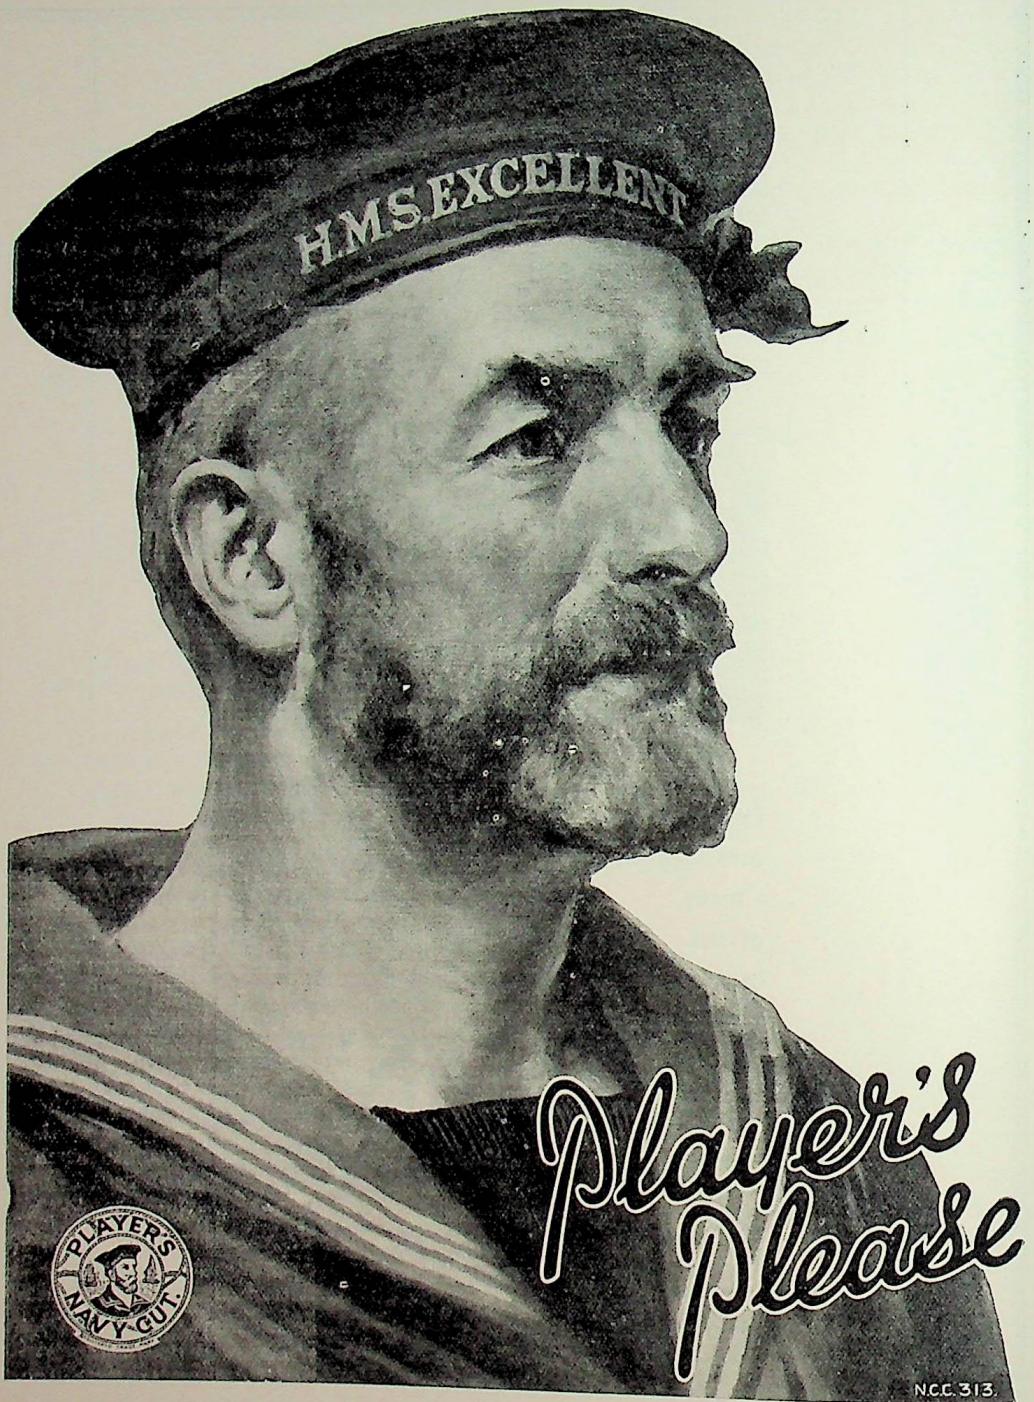

The comfort, convenience and hygiene of Ferranti Radiant Electric Fires . . . and the precision of Ferranti synchronous electric Clocks . . . are luxuries most modestly priced. They are almost an essential feature of the modern home.

N.C.C. 313.

O Brother dear and dead for us,
The faith is kept, thy duty done;
And in defeat victorious
Thine everlasting rest is won.
Stronger our hands to lift the load,
Remembering thee, gone forth to God.

And thou that standest, all untried,
The moment waits thine eager youth.
Take thou the sword, whate'er betide,
And dare a tourney for the Truth.
In ways this Elder Brother trod
Thy feet are set. Go forth with God!

Dark is the day and long the Quest
That claims the service of thy sword,
But Righteousness shall steel thy breast
That wears the armour of the Lord.
Prepared and patient to fulfil
Go forth with God and do His will.

Think fair of all, and all men love,
And with the builder bear thy part;
Let every day and duty prove
The humble witness of thine heart.
Go forth! 'tis God bids thee increase
The bounds of Love and Joy and Peace.

Behold, with thine uplifted eyes,
Beauty through all that sorrow seems;
And make of earth a Paradise,
The substance of thy dearest dreams.
Bring laughter to thy great employ:
Go forth with God and find His joy.

Now hunting horns are heard in the distance. A party of HUNTMEN and LADIES approaches. They bring with them the OUTLAW, captured and bound. The chief HUNTMAN sings:—

Haste to the greenwood!
Chorus: Greenwood, greenwood!
Beating the brushwood, close and clear,
With a ho! and a hoy!
'Tis jolly employ
To hunt and slay the deer.
Chorus: With a ho! ho, ho!
And a ho! ho, hoy!
We hunt and slay the deer.

Thorough the greenwood—
Chorus: Greenwood, greenwood—
Never a hind so nimbly ran.
Blow us a call!
'Tis better than all
To hunt and hang a man.
Chorus: With a ho! ho, ho!
And a ho! ho, hoy!
We hunt and hang a man.

As the HUNTMEN thrust the OUTLAW roughly forward, towards VALIANT, a VILLAGE GIRL runs out from the crowd, crying "My Father!" The HUNTMEN jeer and drag her, struggling, away, handling her roughly. VALIANT, drawing his sword, intervenes; two HUNTMEN draw and set upon him. After a ding-dong fight he disarms and overpowers them. The central group on the stage then sings:—

GIRL : The world is wrong, till one shall come
To heal the wound, to find the lost,
To guide the traveller, tempest-tost,
Upon the way that leads him home.
(All) Now youth is come, and he must choose.
Ah, youth must choose
(Girl) To win or lose.

HUNTSMAN : The world is weak, and I had thought
To bend its weakness to my whim;
But youth forbade, and unto him
I yield the victory he hath fought.
(All) For youth is come and he is strong—
Oh, youth is strong—
(Huntsman) To right the wrong.

LADY : The world is fair, and I did say
That youth its sorrow must deride
And dwell in dalliance at my side,
Content to dream the time away—
(All) But youth hath chose a harder part,
A harder part
(Lady) Than win my heart.

VALIANT : The world is wide, and I must choose
To breast the hill or skirt the plain,
To dare the loss or greet the gain,
Full hardly win or grandly lose—
(All) O give him grace that he (I) may know
That he (I) may know
(Valiant) The way to go.

The Huntsmen, Ladies, Outlaw and Crowd gradually withdraw, leaving Valiant alone.

III. THE COMMISSION.

SCENE : A Chapel. TIME : Just before morning.

An altar, without ornaments upon it, stands at the back of the scene: on the step before it kneels VALIANT, keeping his vigil. Presently his two 'GOVERNORS' (sponsors for the ceremony of knighthood) enter, with their PAGES, to robe and arm him.

The VILLAGE CROWD, the HUNTSMEN, etc., begin to assemble on the stage. At the same time a procession advances up the hall. It is in three sections: (i) Ecclesiastical—a BISHOP, with priests and monks, preceded by cross-bearer and 'chandlers' (candle-bearers); (ii) Royal—the KING, attended by courtiers, etc.; (iii) Knightly—knights, squires and men-at-arms. During their entry the CHOIR is singing:—

(men) Go forth with God! the day is now
That thou must meet the test of youth.
Salvation's helm upon thy brow,
Go girded with the living truth.
In ways the Elder Brethren trod
Thy feet are set. Go forth with God!

(men) Dark is the day and long the Quest
That claims the service of thy sword,
But Righteousness shall steel thy breast
That wears the Armour of the Lord.
Prepared and patient to fulfil,
Go forth with God and do His will.

(men) The Lord of Life His Life did yield;
Thy brethren counted death no loss.
So mark as token on thy shield
The blazon of the Two-fold Cross.
Go forth with God—and though it be
O'er Golgotha to victory.

(women) Think fair of all, and all men love,
And with the builder bear thy part.
Let every day and duty prove
The humble witness of thine heart.
Go forth! 'tis God bids thee increase
The bounds of Love and Joy and Peace.

(women) Behold, with thine uplifted eyes
Beauty through all that sorrow seems;
And make of earth a Paradise,
The substance of thy dearest dreams.
Bring laughter to thy great employ:
Go forth with God and find His joy.

(men) Go forth with God! the world awaits
The coming of the pure and strong.
Strike for the Faith and storm the gates
That keep the citadel of Wrong.
Glory shall shine about thy road,
Great heart, if thou go forth with God.

When the procession reaches the stage the cross and candles are set upon the altar and the BISHOP takes his stand on the altar-step, facing the hall; the KING seats himself on his throne; the monks, courtiers and soldiers take their places on and round the stage.

VALIANT kneels first before the altar, where the BISHOP blesses his uplifted sword; then, escorted by his GOVERNORS, he stands before the KING.

The Ceremony of Knighthood now takes place, viz. (i) VALIANT's spurs are buckled on him by his GOVERNORS; (ii) the Accolade is bestowed upon him by the KING, who then descends from his throne, embraces VALIANT and (iii) girds him with the sword-belt.

The whole procession re-forms and passes down the hall: following the ecclesiastical and royal sections, VALIANT leaves the stage, with the knights and soldiers, to begin his adventure. The rear is brought up by the whole CROWD, Villagers, Huntsmen and Beggars—the leper last of all. During the whole of this exit the Choir is singing.—

Hymnus, melos, laus perennis,
Gratiarum actio,
Honor, virtus, et victoria,
Regnum æternaliter,
Sæculorum sæculis.*

* The words of this, one of the grandest of the Latin hymns, comes from the Cathemerinon of Aurelius Clemens Prudentius (born A.D. 348), the first Latin Christian poet. There are other verses, some of which sing of the Nativity: the hymn has, therefore, long been used as a processional on Christmas Day.

The magnificent 'plain-song' tune, known as Divinum Mysterium, dates from the 13th century at least. It was first printed in a Swedish book Piae Cantiones (Sacred Songs) in 1582, and reached England soon after. The verses used here have been translated as follows:—

Of the Father's heart begotten,
Bore the world from chaos rose,
He is Alpha: from that Fountain
All that is and hath been flows;
He is Omega, of all things
Yet to come the mystic Close,
Evermore and evermore.

This is He, Whom seer and sybil
Sang in ages long gone by;
This is He of old revealed
In the page of prophecy;
Lo, He comes, the promised Saviour;
Let the world His praises cry
Evermore and evermore.

Sing, ye heights of heaven, His praises:
Angels and archangels, sing!
Whereso'er ye be, ye faithful,
Let your joyous anthems ring.
Every tongue His name confessing,
Countless voices answering
Evermore and evermore.

Hail, Thou Judge of souls departed;
Hail, of all the living King!
On the Father's right hand throned,
Through His courts Thy praises ring.
Till at last for all offences
Righteous judgment Thou shalt bring,
Evermore and evermore.

Now let old and young uniting
Chant to Thee harmonious lays,
Maid and matron hymn Thy glory,
Infant lips their anthems raise,
Boys and girls together singing
With pure heart their songs of praise,
Evermore and evermore.

Christ, to Thee, with God the Father,
And, O Holy Ghost, to Thee,
Hymn, and chant, and high thanksgiving,
And unwearied praises be,
Honour, glory and dominion
And eternal victory
Evermore and evermore.

A Note on Knighthood

Our hero is the young Squire reaching the moment of knighthood—his true “coming-of-age” in chivalry, when he has learnt his appointed duties, proved his courage and is ready to begin the career of manhood.

His training at a feudal court has been long and strict. Between the ages of seven and eight he became a Page, between fifteen and sixteen a Squire, and at about twenty-one he is made a Knight. As Page he served both his master and his mistress, he waited on them at table, accompanied them in the chase, served the lady in her bower and his knight in camp, learning the elements of religion, of love, of games and military exercises, and of sport—“the mysteries of woods and rivers.” On becoming a Squire his sword was blessed by the priest and he then undertook the additional duties of arming his master, guarding his banner in battle, and fighting beside him, if need be.

A Squire might receive Knighthood in various ways, of which the most distinguished was “winning his spurs” in battle and being knighted on the field, like the Black Prince at Crecy. In early times, a knight, or even a lady, could confer knighthood on one who did them good service, but Henry IV (1400) made the bestowal of the honour the prerogative of the King alone—and as such it remains to this day. The ceremony of “dubbing” a knight in peace-time then became very elaborate. It gradually fell into disuse with the ending of the “age of chivalry,” but George I made an attempt, without much success, to revive it in the 18th century for the Order of the Bath.

The Ceremony.

On our stage it is only possible to suggest the ritual used in making a knight and to reproduce a few of its most essential acts. The whole procedure lasted the greater part of two days and a night, and every step of it was symbolical.*

1. INTRODUCTION : Towards evening the Squire is handed over to “two esquires of honour, grave and well seen in courtship and nurture and also in the feats of chivalry.” These are his sponsors and are called ‘Governors,’ senior and junior.

2. THE LAVING : The King’s Barber then shaves the Squire and cuts his hair, afterwards conducting him to a water-tub, lined with linen and spread with rich cloths. The Governors strip the Squire and he steps into the bath. The Governors then “inform, instruct and counsel him touching the order and feats of chivalry,” after which they pour water over him and sign him with the cross in water on the left shoulder and kiss this cross.

He is then taken by the Governors to a plain bed and, still naked, is wrapped in blankets until he is dry. On rising the Governors clothe him in a shirt and put over it “a robe of russet with long sleeves, having a hood thereto like unto that of an hermit,” which signifies humility and the religious nature of the ceremony. He is girt with a hempen cord, for hemp, a natural substance, stands for simple truth.

3. THE VIGIL : The Governors conduct him to a chapel, with squires “sporting and dancing” and minstrels making melody before them. There the Governors, after being served with wines and spiced cakes, leave him. The Squire has brought with him a sword, a candle and a penny: these he lays on the floor before the altar where he kneels. A page beside him holds an open prayer-book to which he may turn. “The priest, the chandler” (i.e. candle-bearer) “and the watch” keep the vigil of arms with him. Thus he remains, “bestowing himself in orisons and prayers, till the dawning waxeth clear and day be come.”

4. THE OFFERTORY : At sunrise he confesses to the Priest, hears matins and communicates in the mass. At the offertory he hands the Priest his sword, which is laid on the altar—the knight’s service offered to God. He also offers the candle, with the penny pressed into it—the lighted candle standing for God and the coin for the King, whose image it bears: these symbolise his double duty to “render unto God the things that are God’s and unto Caesar the things that are Caesar’s.”

After this he is taken back to his chamber and put to bed.

5. THE ROBING: The Governors, with knights and minstrels, come and rouse him. He is robed, the junior Governor putting black stockings or cloth boots on his feet and the senior Governor throwing a red mantle, lined with white, round his shoulders. The black stockings are to remind him of mortality; the red of the mantle means that he must be prepared, if need be, to shed his blood for his cause, and the white lining that he must keep himself pure within.

6. THE BANQUET: Mounting their horses they all ride to the hall where knighthood is to be bestowed. There a banquet of the order is in progress. The Squire is offered the choicest dishes but refuses all food, for he is still keeping his fast. If the King is already present, the Squire serves him with one dish, on bended knee, remembering that he is still but a humble squire waiting in hall.

7. THE SPURS: The King is on his throne, and the Governors bring the Squire before him. The senior Governor holds the Squire’s sword aloft, by the point, sheathed and with the belt attached: on the cross-hilt of the sword hangs a pair of spurs and a white silk shoulder-knot. The senior Governor lowers the sword-hilt to the junior Governor, who takes the spurs from it; he then hands the sword itself to the King who removes the shoulder-knot, passing the sword to one of his attendants, the knot to another. The junior Governor then presents the spurs to the King.

The senior Governor receives one spur back from the King’s hands, goes down on one knee on which he takes the Squire’s right foot. He straps on the spur, making the sign of the cross over it. The junior Governor does the same with the left spur. The spurs signify that he will “display the utmost ardour and activity in doing his duty.”

8. THE ACCOLADE: The King receives the Squire’s sword from his attendant and draws it. He ‘dubs’ the kneeling Squire a Knight, touching him with the flat of the sword first on the left shoulder, then on the right, saying, “In the name of God, Saint Michael and Saint George, I make thee knight.”

Rising from his throne the King sheathes the sword and, putting his hand under the kneeling Knight’s elbows, raises him to his feet. He then buckles the sword-belt round the Knight’s waist. During this action the Knight stands with uplifted arms.

9. THE BUFFET: The King lays his left hand on the Knight’s right shoulder, and with his free right hand strikes him on the back of the neck. This act signifies that, as the nape of the neck is a most sensitive part of the body, so a knight’s honour is his most vulnerable possession for which he must stand up in defence. The King then kisses him, with the words “Be a good knight.”

10. THE SHOULDER-KNOT: Lastly, the King, receiving the white silk shoulder-knot fastens it to the Knight’s shoulder. This signifies that he is still a ‘virgin knight,’ who has as yet accomplished no feat of chivalry: the knot will only be removed after that is accomplished. (It is perhaps unfortunate that a modern Knight of the Bath always continues to wear two white shoulder-knots in full dress!)

FINALLY, the new Knight returns to the chapel, with music, and, laying his right hand on the altar swears to defend the Church. He ungirds his sword and lays it on the altar.

As he comes out of the Chapel the Master Cook claims his spurs and his fee and says, “If thou do ought contrary to the laws of chivalry—which God forbid!—I shall hack the spurs from thy heels!” The Knight, having also presented a purse to the pages, is then free to join his friends and to break his fast at another banquet—which, we may suppose, he does to some purpose.

TOC H COMING-OF-AGE

The programme of events at the Crystal Palace on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, June 27th, represent only the happenings of one day in a Coming-of-Age Festival which occupies three weeks—from June 15th to July 5th.

For the benefit of those who know little of Toc H a brief summary of its history and aims is here given, and this is followed by a suggestion that new friends can help it by becoming Builders.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF TOC H FOR FRIENDS WHO SHARE OUR FESTIVAL

THE name of Toc H is now widely known in all the five continents. But among those who appreciate that it has some useful purpose, and perhaps even appeal to it on occasion when some case of difficulty or distress comes to their notice, there are few who really know what its name means or what it stands for in the life of the world to-day.

Toc H in War-time.

Toc H is one of the few good things that came out of the Great War. Its origin was a club for officers and men, conducted in the little Belgian town of Poperinghe in the Ypres Salient by padres Neville Talbot and Clayton (Tubby). "Everyman's Club" it called itself, for no distinction of rank or religion was made between those to whom it opened its hospitable doors. To men of all ranks, returning strained and tired from the front line trenches, it offered the great simplicities of rest, refreshment, friendship and, for those who chose to seek its loft chapel, that deeper refreshment of the sort that men need when they have to face daily the realities of life and death. Field Marshal Lord Plumer, for so long the defender of Ypres, knew the House and its value. For the rest of his life he became its wise and discerning friend, and in his last message to the Army commended Toc H to the service which had given it birth. Such was Talbot House, soon shortened in the signaller's code to the affectionate diminutive 'Toc H.' In 1929, by the far-seeing generosity of Lord Wakefield, Talbot House came once again into the keeping of Toc H, to be a place of pilgrimage and training for ever.

A Living Memorial.

Why did Toc H survive the war? Simply because it recognised and drew from men, under the most adverse conditions, those qualities of comradeship, humble service, and recognition of sacrifice that sane men know to be the basis of any stable human society. Consequently when the strain of war gave way to the strains of an uneasy peace, men remembered that they had learnt there lessons that might avail to help the rebuilding of a broken world. They, the survivors, felt keenly that their trust to their dead comrades would not be discharged till they had tried to build some better thing than they had known, a world which would justify the sacrifice of their lives. So Toc H became a living memorial of those who had died, determined to pass on to the rising generation all that they had held most dear. It was to be no body of mourners, but full of the joyous strength of comradeship, and the generous giving of self for the service of others which had been learnt in so hard a school. It chose as its symbol a simple bronze lamp, the clear flame of which was to remind the members of those who had passed on, and to nerve them to maintain the half-won heritage of those "elder brethren."

Toc H takes shape.

So the movement began very simply, with the coming together in just a few places of little groups of men, ex-service at first but steadily gathering to themselves the younger brothers. They pledged themselves to carry friendship across the boundaries of class (as yet they hardly dared to think of the boundaries of race), to serve in simple ways, cheering the downcast, helping the fallen to stand again on their feet, training the young in scout troop and boys' club, and, greatly daring, to take the Christian gospel for their plan of life. No man coming in was asked to declare his creed, but it was made plain to him that he was expected to share in practical ways in the common life of a body which was now rapidly coming to think of itself as one family. The idea caught men's imagination. Toc H took root in town after town, sometimes in the form of a residential house where young men working away from home could find a life of friendship and purpose, more often in a Group or Branch meeting regularly once a week, and, singly or in teams, going out to do their little jobs of service.

Toc H spreads across the World.

It was not long before the infection passed overseas. In the Twenties it became firmly established in Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India and along the trade routes, east, west and south. Of recent years this development has gone on apace, and now in 1936, members from the distant spaces of the earth are coming to the Home Country for the Coming-of-Age celebrations.

The Twenty-first year.

So Toc H comes of age, a big thing already when one looks back to its tiny origin in Poperinghe, but conscious that it has hardly begun the work for which it was born. In the intervening years it has not only learnt to overcome differences of class, but is beginning to tackle those of race. Its service has widened in scope and deepened in knowledge and capacity. It is beginning to think hard about the great problems, at home and abroad, which confront this generation. It is determined as at the beginning to play its part, a man's part now, in making the world something nearer to what God meant it to be.

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF GROWING-UP

Together with some account of Uncles and Fairy Godmothers.

ONE of the loveliest things about childhood is its ability to roam the fields of adventure untroubled by those nasty things called "facts," about which we sober-sided elders have perforce to make such ado.

Particularly happy is the child in being able to indulge its ambitions without being brought up at every turn by considerations of ways and means. At seven one can be a railway chief without a thought of "what the traffic can bear," and one's crack trains fly over the lines untrammeled by pay-loads or the wear and tear of permanent way. Neither Washington Treaties nor fears of a rise in Income Tax stand in the way of adding a whole squadron of new battleships to the Navy, provided one blade of the pocket-knife remains unbroken, and wine-corks, match-sticks and a sufficiency of tintacks for ballast, can be had for the asking.

Some of the older folk who read this will recall their passionate longing for a career of carrying a red flag in front of the steam roller and how they scorned to take any account of the stupid fact that the glorious care-free flagman ranked distinctly lower in the economic scale than the grimy and sinister engineer.

But as childhood passes into manhood, facts become ever more insistent. And rightly so. Only by facing facts do we learn to pass gradually from a world of make-believe, where there are conventions but no responsibilities, into the real world of adult life, where the full responsibilities of manhood must be met.

Happily the transition is usually gradual for, where it is not, the result is often disastrous. Boyhood's imagination instead of blossoming into adventurous manhood, withers up into a dull and timorous existence. And this is specially what happens, when economic responsibility, valuable enough at the right time, has to be undertaken too early.

That is why "uncles" and "fairy godmothers" are such highly important persons. Toc H has indeed been fortunate in both. But for these men and women, who, retaining something of the childlike spirit themselves, saw what this thing might become, while as yet it had no strength, Toc H would have lacked from the beginning its chain of bases in the Marks and Houses and its small but devoted staff of leaders, padres and lay. Without these there would be no twenty-first birthday worth the celebrating.

These discerning friends, now expanded into a goodly company of Builders, have watched Toc H grow in responsibility. Through them it has been enabled to learn the arts of friendship and service before being called upon to master the more difficult art of regular giving to maintain and spread the Toc H way of life. It is right that that responsibility should now be faced where Toc H is widespread and deep-rooted, and the friends who have made its growth possible will be the first to rejoice that in its twenty-first year it is showing itself thus ready to meet the tasks of manhood.

Those tasks are neither few nor easy. Local self-support each Group and Branch of Toc H undertakes as a matter of course. But Toc H is not merely a series of local clubs; it is a world-wide movement with a world-wide task before it. That the members should be, as they are, resolved to bear their full part in spreading Toc H far and wide is the surest guarantee against narrowness of vision and self-complacency. They are doing their best, but they know that unaided the task is beyond their strength.

Some of Toc H is very young yet, some of it has yet to be brought to birth. There are lonely folk on the high seas and in the distant places of the earth who need Toc H and seek it. They will not get it till there is a reserve of trained staff and the college we have long dreamt of for the training of leaders. The more Toc H at home and in the great Dominions can support its own staff, the nearer is the day when we can realise these things.

But for long ahead the rapidity of such pioneer work will still depend on the vision and foresight of uncles and fairy godmothers. Those of them who are with us on this day share with us in the partial realisation of a vision which was theirs as much as ours. Their faith has made possible the Toc H that is. Builders they have been indeed.

As we dedicate ourselves at this Coming-of-Age to the building of the Toc H that is yet to be, it is our hope that the partnership of the past may be renewed and extended in the future. For we know now, beyond doubting, the task that is laid upon us. We know that the work of Toc H will never be done until the kingdoms of the world become the Kingdom of God and of his Christ.

THE LIGHTING OF THE LAMPS

The audience is requested to remain seated while the PROCESSION OF BANNERS, RUSHLIGHTS and LAMPS of the old Branches enters to music, in the course of which will be sung:—

OUT of Many into One
Are we fashionèd this night.
God, to us no winter sun,
Bids the lame lead on to light.
Father, who art Fount and Thirst!
Christ, men's Hunger and their Meat!
Spirit-knit, though world dispersed,
Stand we, fearing, round thy feet.

Out of violence, virtue shone.
This one thing defied the stream,
Where the spate of death swept on,
Stood God's Torture-Tree supreme.
Rising from a Flanders tomb,
While the world yet deem'd Him dead,
His the lamp that lights our room,
His the Hand that breaks our Bread.

Grey-flecked head and eager boy,
Gownsman, townsman, pastor, priest,
Troubadours of toil and joy,
Gather to this household feast.
In the tuneful hearts of friends
Better music ne'er was blown:
From the land where hatred ends
Comes 'Amen' in antiphon.

Philip Clayton.

BRAVE men began the sacred fire
These Lamps achieved of old,
Re-kindling Everyman's desire
To serve and to uphold.
Long may their reverent radiance
Maintain a mystic grace,
Until their deep obeisance
Falls on a true Friend's face.

Stand back, obliterating night!
Here for His Advent burn
These sentinels of silent light,
Against the Lord's return.
Cleaving our infidelity,
Light is the Spirit's sword.
No cause can wake humanity,
Which fails in watch and ward.

Alert and listen ere you act.
The far hills bid you hark.
Perchance, in presage of His pact,
A drum throbs through the dark.
Go, fire these cressets at the gate!
To sleep were shame and sin.
Whether He cometh soon or late,
The Master must ride in.

Philip Clayton.

I VOW to thee, my country—all earthly things above—
Entire and whole and perfect, the service of my love,
The love that asks no question: the love that stands the test,
That lays upon the altar the dearest and the best;
The love that never falters, the love that pays the price,
The love that makes undaunted the final sacrifice.

And there's another country, I've heard of long ago—
Most dear to them that love her, most great to them that know—
We may not count her armies: we may not see her King—
Her fortress is a faithful heart, her pride is suffering—
And soul by soul and silently her shining bounds increase,
And her ways are ways of gentleness and all her paths are peace.

Cecil Spring-Rice.

THOU whose almighty Word
Chaos and darkness heard,
And took their flight;
Hear us, we humbly pray,
And where the Gospel-day
Sheds not its glorious ray
Let there be light!

Thou who didst come to bring
On thy redeeming wing
Healing and sight,
Health to the sick in mind,
Sight to the inly blind,
Ah! now to all mankind
Let there be light!

Spirit of truth and love,
Life-giving, holy Dove,
Speed forth thy flight!
Move on the waters' face,
Bearing the lamp of grace,
And in earth's darkest place
Let there be light!
Blessed and holy Three,
Glorious Trinity,
Wisdom, Love, Might;
Boundless as ocean tide
Rolling in fullest pride,
Through the world far and wide
Let there be light!

J. Marriott.

H.R.H. THE DUKE OF KENT will be welcomed by P. SUTHERLAND GRAEME (Chairman of the Central Executive) and will speak; he will be thanked by the Rev. P. B. CLAYTON, Founder Padre. There will then be placed before him The Patron's Lamp, under the charge of ARTHUR PETTIFER, M.M. (a Vice-President) and escorted by Assistant Lamplighters:—

G. W. J. BLACKMAN (The Continent of Europe).	Squadron Leader D. D'A. A. GREIG, D.F.C., A.F.C. (Royal Air Force).
C.P.O. Wtr. C. BROWNJOHN (Royal Navy).	H. HODKISSON (Canada).
P. R. D. BUGLER (Mercantile Marine).	G. R. HUGHES (Ceylon).
W. A. CAVE (Australia).	A. MARTIN (New Zealand).
E. G. DODDS (South America).	Battery Sergt.-Major C. O'ROURKE, R.A. (Army).
Lieut.-Colonel W. R. ELLIOTT, M.C. (India and Burma).	D. L. RALPH (Far East).
P. SUTHERLAND GRAEME, C.B.E. (United Kingdom).	E. A. THOMPSON (Southern Africa).
	LORD WAKEFIELD (The Old House).

The LAMPS OF NEW BRANCHES (see pages 71-76) will then be brought forward by their bearers to be lit by HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS from the Patron's Lamp.

The audience is requested to remain seated until the Lamplighting is finished.

Immediately before the CEREMONY OF LIGHT all will stand to sing these two verses of "The Hymn of Light," composed for the Festival of 1925 by BARCLAY BARON, its music by CHRISTOPHER OGLE.

HAIL, joyful Light! O worship and praise
Father and Son and Spirit Divine:
First and the Last, the Ancient of Days,
Power and dominion ever be thine.
Light of all Light, thou measureless Love,
Guide thou our feet and lighten our way.
Now by thy rising, lead us above:
Thine is salvation, thou art the day.

The Ceremony of Light

(This simple ritual is observed at all meetings of Toc H in every part of the world. It will be conducted on this occasion by the Founder Padre of Toc H. All members of the audience are requested to remain standing and to join in the responses).

THE ACT OF REMEMBRANCE.

FOUNDER PADRE: With proud thanksgiving let us remember our Elder Brethren.
They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun, and in the morning,
We will remember them.

ALL: We will remember them.

ONE MINUTE'S SILENCE.

THE ACT OF SELF-DEDICATION.

FOUNDER PADRE: Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works.

ALL: And glorify our Father which is in Heaven.

Then will be sung this verse of "The Hymn of Light":—

High over all, Love sceptred and crowned,
King everlasting, Light of all Light,
When we behold thee, let us be found
Worthy to shine as stars in thy sight.

Followed by William Blake's "Jerusalem," to the music of Hubert Parry:—

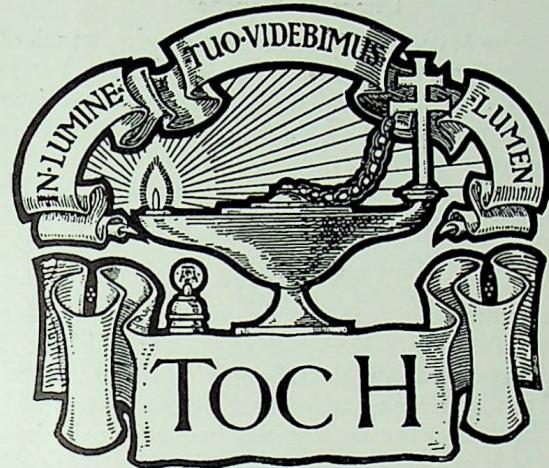

And did those feet in ancient time	Bring me my bow of burning gold;
Walk upon England's mountain green?	Bring me arrows of desire;
And was the Holy Lamb of God	Bring me my spear; O clouds, unfold!
On England's pleasant pastures seen?	Bring me my chariot of fire.
And did the countenance Divine	I will not cease from mental fight,
Shine forth upon our clouded hills?	Nor shall my sword sleep in my hand,
And was Jerusalem builded here	Till we have built Jerusalem
Among those dark Satanic mills?	In England's green and pleasant land.

What is this?
What first lit it?
What alone will maintain it?

THE
ROLL OF THE
LAMPS OF MAINTENANCE
OF TOC H
1922 - 1936

The Lamp of Maintenance.

The idea of a Lamp as the symbol of Toc H was first conceived in May, 1922, and was put before the membership in the Toc H JOURNAL (Vol. 1, No. 1) in June; in December of the same year the first Lamps were lit. The words of the "Ceremony of Light," used whenever the Lamp is lit, were—in part—already in use before this.

Lamps of Branches.

THE BRONZE LAMP OF MAINTENANCE is the symbol of a Branch of Toc H, bestowed when a Group (the probationary stage in the Toc H "family") proves itself worthy of promotion to Branch status. It is granted for periods not exceeding four years at a time. Its shape is modelled on that of lamps in common household use in the first centuries of the Christian era, except that for the Sacred Monogram XP (Christos), often found upon their handles, the Double Cross, a part of the arms of the City of Ypres, is substituted. (See pages 44-69 of Roll).

School Lamps.

Nineteen bronze Lamps, lit in 1922, were bestowed upon Schools with which Toc H was working. The number of Schools which co-operate with Toc H has since greatly increased, but the practice of granting them Lamps has not been continued and some of the Lamps given in 1922 have been handed back by the Schools which received them. Where they are still held, they are usually kept in the School Chapel and lighted on Armistice Day in memory of old boys who fell in the War. (See page 69).

"Silver" Lamps.

A small number of special Lamps have been lit for other than ordinary use in Branches. These are, in most cases, finished in oxydised silver, but their material is the ordinary bronze, i.e., their intrinsic value, by intention, is scarcely greater than that of other Lamps. A list of these Lamps heads the Roll. (See pages 39-43).

Rushlights of Groups.

THE RUSHLIGHT, a replica in bronze of the old English domestic rushlight holder, with the Double Cross added, is the symbol of a Group (the probationary unit) of Toc H. This is bestowed without ceremony and is surrendered in exchange for a Lamp when the Group is promoted to Branch status. The Rushlight is used in the same way as the Lamp.

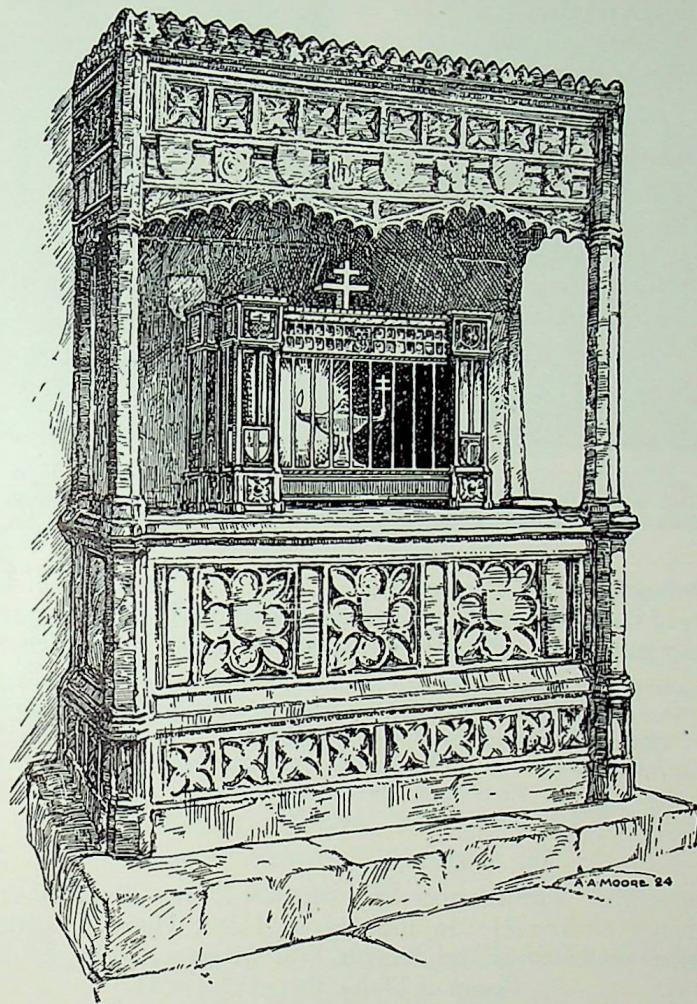

The Guard of the Lamp.

Since the beginning all matters regarding Lamps and Rushlights, such as the proper maintenance and use of them, the ceremonies connected with them, etc., have been in the charge of a committee of three, the "Guard of the Lamp." There is now a Central Guard of the Lamp, a Guard for each of the Areas in Great Britain and for each of the Oversea sections of Toc H which has a properly authorised Council or Constitution of its own.

Lamps of the L.W.H.

The Branches of the Toc H LEAGUE OF WOMEN HELPERS hold "Lamps of the Magnificat" (for Roll see pages 9-17). These bear the Monogram XP, not the Double Cross, on the handle. Rushlights with the Monogram are also used by Groups.

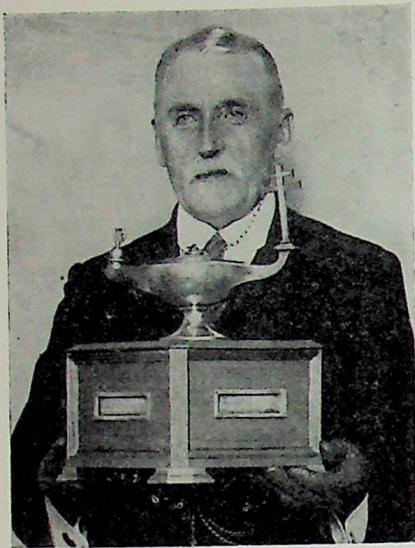

The Roll of Silver Lamps

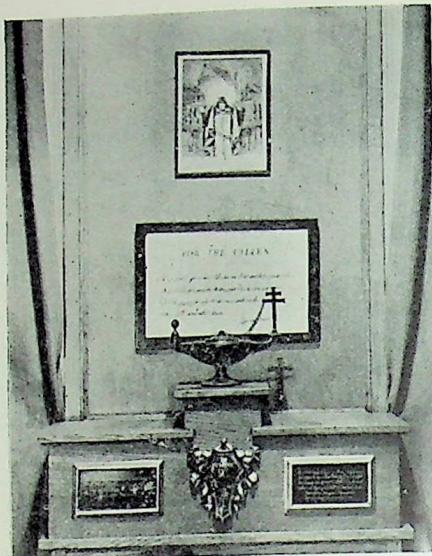

The Patron's Lamp.

Name and Dedication: THE PRINCE'S LAMP: IN MEMORY OF HIS FRIENDS.

This, the first Lamp of all, was presented to Toc H by H.M. The King when Prince of Wales, and first lit by him at Guildhall, London, on December 15, 1922. It stands, perpetually burning, on the tomb of Sir John Croke, one of the first Wardens of the Guild of St. Mary (founded 1465), in the Church of All Hallows, Barking-by-the-Tower, in the City of London. It is now enshrined in the bronze-gilt and enamelled casket, decorated with the insignia of Toc H Branches and Houses, which was unveiled by the Prince of Wales on December 15, 1923. All new Lamps (except in Australia from 1927 to 1935—see page 42) have been lit from it.

M. Sobry with the Ypres Lamp.

The Lamp in the Old House.

The City of Ypres Lamp.

Name and Dedication: THE CITY OF YPRES LAMP: "To the Glory of God and in memory of the men of the Belgian Army who fell in the Great War, and of those their comrades of the British Army who gave their lives in the defence of Ypres."

The presentation of this Silver Lamp was made to M. Colaert, late Burgomaster of Ypres, in the Grande Place on Palm Sunday, March 25, 1923. It was brought to Westminster Abbey on December 8, 1928, by M. Sobry, Burgomaster of Ypres, and there dedicated by the Dean of Westminster. It is kept in the new Hôtel de Ville at Ypres, with an explanation in English, French and Flemish beside it.

The Belgian War Museum Lamp.

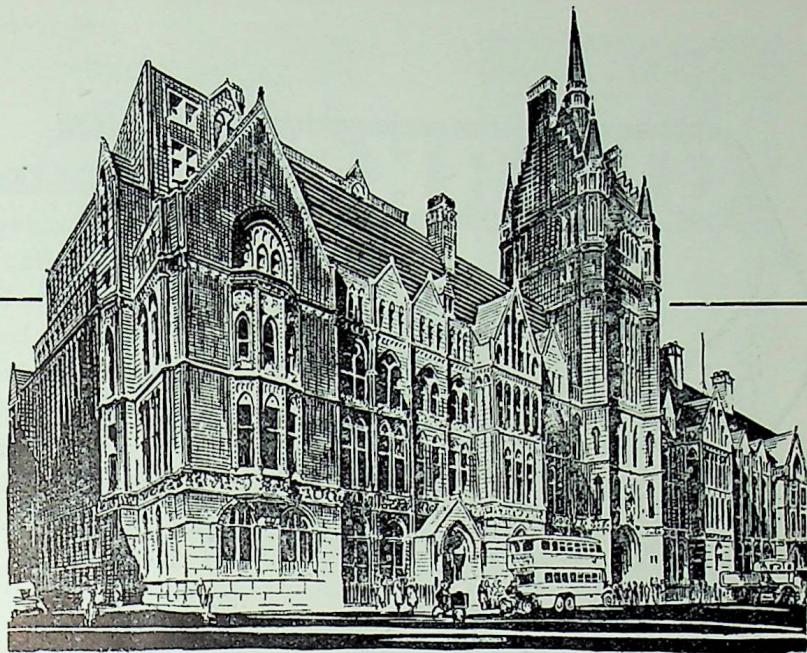

Name and Inscription: THE BELGIAN WAR MUSEUM LAMP.—Model of the Lamp of Maintenance of Toc H: In memory of Talbot House, Poperinghe-Ypres, 1915-1918: presented to the Belgian War Museum, 1924: By H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Patron of Toc H.

This silver Lamp, which is not dedicated, stands in the British section of the War Museum at Brussels, below a portrait of H.M. King George V. It is accompanied by a description.

The Lamp in the Old House.

Dedication: To the Glory of God and in memory of all the Elder Brethren who worshipped in Talbot House.

This bronze Lamp was taken to Talbot House, Poperinghe, on December 5, 1930, to be used that night in the Upper Room for starting the World Chain of Light. It was given in thanksgiving by the members of the party present at this event. It is kept on the upper landing, on the spot where the Carpenter's Bench first stood in December 1915, and is regularly used by parties on pilgrimage to the Old House.

The Lamp of South Africa.

Name: THE SOUTH AFRICAN MEMORIAL LAMP.

This Lamp (which is of bronze) was originally lit by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in London on December 11, 1926, for the Transvaal. On Delville Wood Day, July 18, 1931, it was enshrined in All Souls Memorial Chapel in St. Mary's Cathedral, Johannesburg, as the Lamp of South Africa. It was used on November 2, 1931, to start the World Chain of Light.

On August 4, 1934, the Founder Padre unveiled a bronze canopy over the Lamp in memory of Padre H. B. Ellison ("Uncle Harry"), Hon. Chief Overseas Commissioner, pioneer of Toc H Southern Africa, who died on January 3, 1934. It is dedicated to "All Elder Brethren who won the way to Peace by sacrifice. First among these stands HARRY BLOMFIELD ELLISON, in whom God's grace prevailed. He held nothing back to set this light of Christ's goodwill throughout this great land which he loved and served."

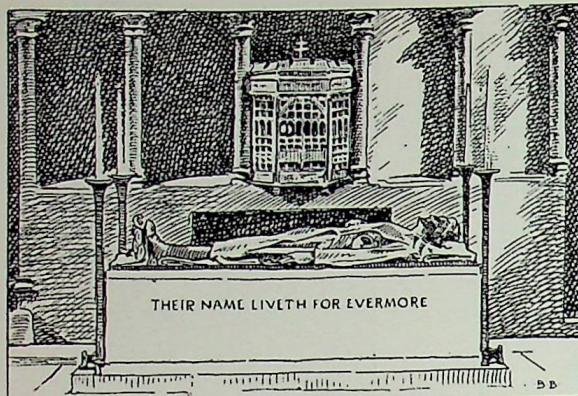

PROVINCIAL LAMPS.

"Provincial Lamps": On December 11, 1926, the Patron also lit Lamps for the other States of the South African Union, viz., CAPE PROVINCE WEST, CAPE PROVINCE EAST, NATAL, ORANGE FREE STATE and also for RHODESIA. These have been, or will be, given to a Branch in their respective Provinces.

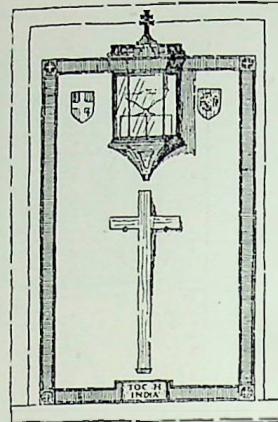

The Lamp of Wales.

Name and Dedication: THE SIDNEY BYASS LAMP: In memory of Sir SIDNEY BYASS, Bart., First President of the Toc H Council for Wales, who died on February 18, 1929.

This silver Lamp was lit by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in London on December 7, 1929. It was dedicated on January 18, 1930, by the Archbishop of Wales, a President of Toc H in Wales, in Llandaff Cathedral. A committee representing all denominations in Toc H in Wales decided that it should be kept for a year at a time in one of the Welsh Cathedrals or Churches.

*The Lamp of Australia,
Newcastle, N.S.W.*

*The Lamp of India,
Calcutta.*

The Lamp of Australia.

Name and Dedication: THE FORSTER LAMP : In memory of JOHN, 2nd Licut., 2nd Batt. K.R.R.C., killed in action, 14.9.1914; and of ALFRED, Lt., Royal Scots Greys, died of wounds near Le Cateau, 17.10.1918.

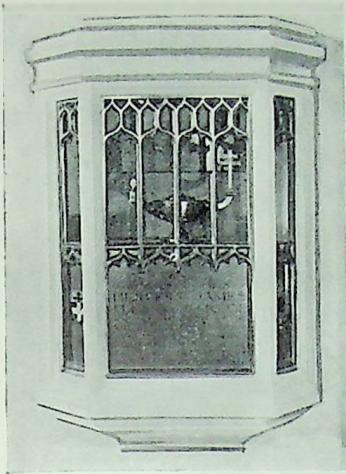

This silver Lamp, given in 1923 by the late Lord Forster (at that time Governor-General of Australia) and Lady Forster, and first lit by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales on December 13, 1924, was taken out to Australia by Padres Clayton and Leonard in 1925. On September 30, 1926, it was re-lit, together with twenty-two Rushlights of Australian Groups, in Newcastle Cathedral, N.S.W., where it stands, perpetually burning, in the Warriors' Chapel, as the "Parent Lamp" from which all Lamps of New Branches of Toc H Australia were lit until 1935: they are now lighted in England.

The shrine which holds it is inscribed: Enclosed in this shrine, commemorating the sacrifice of the ELDER BRETHREN in peace and war, is the FORSTER LAMP, the PARENT LAMP of MAINTENANCE of TOC H AUSTRALIA. The bronze casket was the gift of the people of Newcastle, N.S.W., to Toc H; and the gates of it were the gift of Mrs. C. Fenwick in memory of her father. The Lamp burns above the bronze effigy of Alfred Forster by Cecil Thomas, a replica of the monument in All Hallows, London.

The Lamp of India.

This silver Lamp was lit by the Patron in London on December 15, 1925, and entrusted to the All-India Council of Toc H. It was ceremonially lit on December 15, 1926, in Calcutta Cathedral by the Chairman of the Council (the Hon. Mr. Justice H. G. Pearson), in the presence of H.E. the Viceroy (Lord Irwin), the Commander-in-Chief and a great company of people. It remained there on a pedestal until 1928, when a Chapel of Remembrance was formed in the Cathedral in which the Lamp, enclosed in a casket, with the grave-cross of an Unknown Soldier hanging below it, now burns perpetually.

The Herbert Fleming Lamp.

The Lighting of the Plumer Lamp.

The Herbert Fleming Lamp.

Dedication: To the Glory of God and in memory of HERBERT JAMES FLEMING, C.M.G., C.F., who was Chaplain of the Royal Military Academy from 1911-1914 and 1918-1922, and died while watching the R.M.A. v. R.M.C. Rugby Football Match on 17th December, 1926: This Lamp of Maintenance was presented to the Royal Army Chaplains Department by Toc H in proud thanksgiving for the life and example of Herbert Fleming, Honorary Administrative Padre, 1923-1926. It was lit in his memory at the Eleventh Birthday Festival of Toc H at Manchester by H.R.H. Edward, Prince of Wales, on 11th December, 1926, and dedicated in this Chapel by the Chaplain General to the Forces.

“Let your light so shine before men.”

This Lamp stood before the Empire Roll of Honour in H.M. Government Pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition, Wembley, in 1925. It was lit by H.M. the Queen on May 14, and remained burning until the close of the Exhibition on October 31. It was then given in memory of HERBERT JAMES FLEMING, and was placed in the Chapel of the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and dedicated by the Chaplain General on June 19, 1927. The inscription is engraved on brass tablets attached to the wall shrine of stone and bronze.

The Plumer Lamp.

Name and Dedication: LAMP OF MAINTENANCE: In memory of FIELD-MARSHAL FIRST VISCOUNT HERBERT CHARLES ONSLOW PLUMER OF MESSINES, 1857-1932, President of Toc H.

This silver Lamp was lit by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in Birmingham on December 3, 1932, and was deposited in the Zouche Chapel of York Minster and dedicated by the Dean of York on September 3, 1933. The gilded bronze grille of the aumbry which contains the Lamp bears the inscription.

The photograph above shows General Sir Charles Harrington, Lord Plumer's friend and Chief of Staff holding this Lamp while the Patron lights it.

CRITTALL WINDOWS

The solution of all daylighting problems. There is no building that cannot have its windows exactly right if Crittall Windows are specified. Being made of steel they are strong without being light-obstructing. Once installed they remain efficient with the minimum of upkeep. Crittall Windows are purpose-made to Architects' specifications for big buildings of all kinds and for any buildings where special kinds of fenestration are required; while for all ordinary commercial building jobs there are ranges of Crittall standardised windows, comprising hundreds of different types. These are stocked at Crittall depots throughout the country, ready to be delivered when and where they are required.

Economy but not economy alone

MORRIS
THE MODERN CAR

gives you luxury too—
thanks to

Specialisation

THOUSANDS of shrewd motorists have found a Morris to be the car with the lowest upkeep costs. But it is not economy alone that has made the Morris range so successful. Specialisation gives every Morris a standard of comfort and performance hitherto only associated with the higher-priced car. Because there is no better car than one built by Morris Specialisation—and no better time to buy it—see the complete Morris range to-day.

NATIONAL MOTORISTS ASSOCIATION

*pledged to protect the interests of all motor owners and ensure
Fair Play in all Motoring
Legislation*

Under the Chairmanship of the Earl of Cardigan, with the support of Vice Presidents whose names are famous in the motoring world, the National Motorists Association has built itself into a formidable organisation for the protection of the motorists of Great Britain. The exceptional support with which it has been received is attributed to the fact that for years motorists have been exploited and oppressed to the detriment not only of the enjoyment of motoring but to the British Motor Manufacturing Industry as well. The object of the Association is to assure fair play in all motoring matters and as the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Cardigan has stated . . . "resist any oppressive or unfair legislation and advance reasons for the better treatment of motorists."

A POWERFUL ORGANISATION

The National Motorists Association is most efficiently organised, and every motorist who is a member has at his disposal a combination of facilities that are as unique as they are invaluable. Thousands of motorists are applying for enrolment every week, thus creating a really powerful organisation to combat successfully the unfair measures with which the motorist now has to contend. Grievances submitted by motorists will be given the strongest publicity.

The GREATER the RESPONSE the GREATER the SERVICE

Definite action has been taken by the Association's Political Committee which includes a number of prominent Members of Parliament.
